EASTERN AND SOUTHERN AFRICA

Visit to Cape Town/Safari to Private Game Reserve near Kruger/Mpumalanga
Safari to Hwange Game Park
Visit to Victoria Falls

I spoke with Kyle this past week about the recent trip with my family to South Africa and Zimbabwe and he mentioned that if I contacted you in this form, the message could be sent on to the guest house and camps that we visited.

The guest house in Cape Town was a wonderful way to start our trip - very nice accommodations and very nice people. My family really enjoyed the courtyard between the two houses where we had our "Happy Hour" each evening before going out to dinner. It was like being in our own private space. The view that Leann and I had of Table Mountain from our room was perfect.

Kirkman's Kamp turned out to be a wonderful choice for us. Four of our group had never been to Africa, much less on a game safari, and it more than lived up to everyone's expectations and hopes. Our guide Ralph, our tracker Richard, and our butler Sonny Boy were all wonderful. We think we had the absolute best guide in Ralph. He found all the animals we wanted to see and a few we did not expect. The accommodations were great and we delighted in growing fat and happy there.

Little Makalolo Camp was an entirely different experience but equally wonderful. I particularly appreciated the openness of the camp to the outdoors, and its small size. Our guide was Sibs and he was outstanding. Rania and Kim took care of all our needs in camp in a very welcoming fashion. The absolute highlight was the pride of 17 lions and wonder of wonders, a cheetah when we were on our way to the airstrip. It was my sister Nancy's birthday that day and she declared it one of the best she had ever had.

Overall a wonderful trip - thanks to Kyle for putting it together and to the wonderful people at the places we stayed. Oh yes, I almost forgot Esther, our guide in Vic Falls. She was a great guide for the Falls but also helped us so much when our luggage didn't make it for a day - very concerned about us. We thank her for all her help.

Best wishes to everyone - it would be wonderful to do it all over again.

Visit to Victoria Falls-Livingstone
Flying safari to Linyanti/Okavango Delta/Moremi

Dear Lynne,

Thank you for the absolutely wonderful African adventure we experienced in Botswana and Victoria Falls. The whole experience was amazing! Your planning and expertise made for a perfect trip from start to finish. We are sold on Africa Adventure Company and Wilderness Safaris. You are both tops in your field, and we will sing your praises to everyone we know who is interested in visiting the wonderful African wilderness. We truly had a marvelous journey. It was our first visit to Africa, but we certainly hope it will not be our last. We were well taken care of from the minute we landed in Jo'burg.

The transfer guide was waiting for us and was very helpful with information about the airport and directions for the next day. The Southern Sun Airport Hotel was excellent --both the rooms and the restaurant. When we arrived in Victoria Falls, Esther was waiting for us. She had arranged for us to have the honeymoon suite in the Victoria Falls Hotel, and it was beautiful with a breathtaking view of the Falls. Esther is an outstanding guide and is very proud of the fact that she works only for you. She gave us an excellent tour of the Falls which were flowing at their peak and were very impressive. We really enjoyed staying at the lovely Victoria Falls Hotel, and are pleased that you chose that for our accommodation in Victoria Falls.

Our transfer guide to Kasane, Big Boy, was very helpful. The plane was delayed because of engine trouble, and so he took us to the Chobe Safari Lodge for lunch. We truly appreciated that gesture of hospitality.

Needless to say, the facilities at Savuti, Kwetsani, and Mombo are absolutely wonderful. We loved every single camp. Each one is unique and has its own charming features. Wilderness Safaris is flawless in their performance. Their hospitality was amazing at each camp. We were made to feel so welcome by everyone, both managers and staff. The camps are decorated beautifully and are immaculate. The food is gourmet quality and is ever flowing. We certainly were not allowed to get hungry.

Our game drives in each camp were amazing. The guides were very knowledgeable and considerate of our every need and interest. At Savuti Goodman was our guide, His enthusiasm and love for the Botswana wilderness was contagious. At Kwetsani, our guide was Ronald. He is a walking encyclopedia of information about the African wilds. We learned so much from him. At Mombo, we had two guides--Tsile and Doctor Mallinga. Both were excellent and knew just where to go to make sure we saw everything there was to see, especially lions and leopards. These are so magnificent. We saw them in various activities and all ages.

We had the added benefit of having Map, the Wilderness Safaris ecology director, travel with us at Mombo. His understanding of the African bush is amazing. We felt so fortunate to have him with us. Of course, the magnificence of the experience was the wildlife. The animals are truly amazing, and we saw so many at each camp. I would not say that any camp was better than another as far as wildlife sightings. The guides were very diligent in trying to show us the wonder of the Botswana wilderness. We saw everything that we had hoped to see many times over. Our only disappointment was not being able to see any rhinos, but that was due to the high water levels. They were in a part of Chief's Island that was not accessible. The delta is beautiful this year because of the high water, however.

We had a wonderful mokoro ride, so peaceful and calm. The boat rides were really quite thrilling. I wouldn't want to go when the water was not there, because it adds so much to the beauty of the Okavango. All in all, we had an amazing adventure. We hope to do it again. You can be sure it will be with Africa Adventure and Wilderness Safaris. We are so impressed with Wilderness Safaris' efforts to preserve the pristine environment of the Botswana wilderness. We hope they can be successful in doing this forever. It is an Eden here on earth.

Thank you again and again, Africa Adventure Company, for creating a wonderful experience and memory for us in Botswana and Victoria Falls. It was truly amazing!

With much appreciation,
Don and JoAnn Cannon, May 2011

Private Safari to Tarangire/Lake Manyara/Ngorongoro/Serengeti
Island Getaway to Zanzibar/Visit to Victoria Falls and Cape Town

Hello Kyle--

WOW!!! Mary coined the phrase for our whole trip - sensory overload!!! The sights were amazing. The tastes were fabulous. The smells were phenomenal. The bouncing around in the Range Rover was awesome, as Mkenda called it: a free Tanzanian massage! Speaking of Mkenda, he truly is "Guide of the Century"!! The various types of Lodges/Hotel/Guest House were great! There was absolutely nothing that was a negative about the entire trip, except maybe the plane trips. I can understand why people suggest doing eastern and southern separately, but I'm glad we did both. It truly was a trip of a lifetime and our memories are simply mind boggling.

I do apologize for not going with Esther when we got to Victoria Falls, hopefully that did not cause any troubles. Mary, Mom and I did a walk with lions instead. Flora did go with her and had a great time. Graham was very flexible. Table Mountain was closed on our scheduled day, but he gave Mom and me our tickets, so we could try it the next day (it was open and it was fantastic). Mary and Flora also decided to join Mom and me when we went up.

Everyone that we dealt with was extremely professional and courteous. I can't state enough what a difference it makes when the right person is in the right position. It was such a pleasure meeting and having interactions with everyone during the trip...

I noticed at the bottom of your welcome back letter that Australia and New Zealand are also now offered. Could you send me some info or brochures regarding both. I'll need a few years to save up (like I did for Africa), but am definitely interested to see what is available as of now.

Thank you so much for all your help, patience and info to make this trip amazingly wonderful. My mother, who really did not want to go (afraid of what we would eat, afraid of the heat, afraid of the wild animals, at 77 yrs old was definitely NOT going to get on a hot air balloon or helicopter and who can't swim) had a fantastic time and loved every minute of the entire trip. When I said I would love to go on another safari, maybe to Botswana/Namibia/Okavango Delta, she piped up with "I'd love to go"!!

Again, Kyle, and the entire Africa Adventure Team, THANK YOU so much for a trip of a lifetime. Everything was fantastic!! Can't wait for the next trip of a lifetime!

THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU!!!

Gorilla trekking extension in Volcanoes National Park, Rwanda
Flying safari to Okavango Delta/Moremi Reserve/Linyanti Reserve, Botswana
Flying safari to Sossusvlei, Namibia
Visit to Cape Town, South Africa

...This trip was fantastic! It's all about the guides...Vincent in Volcano Nat'l Pk. hdqtrs, in Rwanda. From Botswana: K.B of JAO, Anthony of Chitabe, & Kane of Savuti camps all excellent & attentive. From Kalula Desert Lodge in Namibia's Sousselvai area, Peatris also very knowledgeable.

Biggest highlight: visits to Sabyinyo & Kwitonda gorilla families. Other highlights: mokoro rides in Okavango Delta, chasing wild dogs on an impala kill thru a thicket of 7 giraffes w/o injury to them or us, noting the alertness of giraffes & thus finding a leopard so stuffed from a heavy feed that we photographed him at leisure, sundowners along the Savute Channel, spotting a rare Roan at entry to Savute, being mock-charged by elephants. Seeing & hearing hippos & elephants by Linyanti River & Savute Channel. Most horrific: the murder of a baby baboon by cross, jealous old female & the "discipline" meted out by the dominant male & his deputies. Many enchanting bird sightings: jacana, bee-eaters, both the giant & the tiny owls at Chitabe. Hard to say whether Chitabe or Savute yielded more excitement; both were excellent & busy spots for wildlife...

Fresh bottled water, plenty of insect repellent, flashlights, escort guides in some camps, big fans & nice mosquito netting all very appreciated & necessary.

About low-impact travel: we are most impressed with the sensitivity toward respecting wildlife, not wasting water (as in Kalula's provision of a bucket in shower to catch the cold water before it turns hot which is used in cleaning floors next day), not wasting electricity where possible. Seeing the hard-working vegetable farmers of Rwanda w/produce carried on their heads & then always having fresh local veggies meats, fish wherever we were made us happy.

So glad & proud to have been to Rwanda despite the horrors of their bloody recent past. Is amazing how much they've accomplished w/very little in such a short time! The Holocaust Museum in Kigali is a life-changing experience & tells the stories very well. The team of trackers, guides & porters for those gorilla treks are as determined to protect their precious charges as they are to boost visits from adventuring tourists, share the wonders of their world & better their own lives. Those little 1 hour times spent with gorillas are expensive, but well worth it

Visit to Cape Town/Safari to Private Game Reserve near Kruger/Mpumalanga Safari to Hwange Game Park Visit to Victoria Falls

Words cannot describe our adventure in Africa. It was absolutely outstanding, awesome, unbelievable, etc. The accommodations were magnificent. The guides (Chris in Cape Town, Ralph and Richard at Kirkman's Kamp, Esther in Victoria Falls and Sids at Little Makalolo) were extremely informative and great fun to be with. Food could not have been better - probably more than was needed especially at Kirkman's Kamp, but enjoyed every bit of it.

For me the last day at Little Makalolo was most memorable - it was my birthday and on the way to the airstrip we saw a cheetah and a pride of 16 lions. Could not ask for a better birthday present.

Visit to a game reserve near Kruger – South Africa Visit to Victoria Falls - Zimbabwe Flying safari to Linyanti Reserve/Moremi Reserve - Botswana

Hi Alison,
Mary and I had a great time. Below are some of my thoughts.

-our best guide overall was Bens at MalaMala. He was originally a tracker and his family has been involved as guides for many years. He was knowledgeable and could track anything. All the other guides respected him.

-Jabulani is a very beautiful and romantic spot. Great for the elephant ride at $250! And would be good for newly weds. There were only 4 of us in the camp. Not particularly good for game viewing as they really don't have much there since it is fenced. Food was fantastic.

-Hoedspruit Endangered Animal Reserve. Excellent and so well done. The cheetah were the only cheetahs we saw the whole trip and we got to pet two 7 month old cheetah. The guide from Jabulani took us around. Very worthwhile.

-MalaMala is still the best for game viewing. Mr and Mrs Rattray were there and I had cocktails with them one evening... We did view Rattrays and it is quite a prize. You could send anyone there and know they would be pleased. Did you pick up our bar bill at MalaMala? When we paid our bill they said that someone had paid for the bar. It was either you or the Rattrays. Thank you!

-Vic Falls..Esther is great. The rivers were so swollen that the spray in the falls kept us from seeing the falls except at the very beginning. It started raining and lightening while we were will at the bridge.

-Savuti. The girl managers try so hard. The camp has water in front and pretty much all around the area. The camp is getting a motor boat in a few weeks so they can take campers out in the water. They have canoes now but do not like using them because it takes 2-3 guides to be sure the way is OK since the animals are not used to boats. We did have a Mozambique Spitting Cobra in the bar while we were there! They deftly hooked it and took it elsewhere. You have to go a long way to see game and all through deep sandy roads. It was a pretty spot but not great for game viewing. We did see one leopard in a tree. Our guide was OK but not like MalaMala.

-Mombo. As you know the place is beautiful. Again, water has come up to the steps of the camp so there is much of the property they cannot get to. We did see 3 pride of lions and a leopard in a tree--the one in Eye of the Leopard DVD. We also saw the lone wild dog several times. There will be a DVD out next year about the dog and the jackals who took him in. There were elephants and a good view of a hippo. They have not seen cheetah for 2 years and the rhino are gone. They are going to introduce black rhino, they think. It's a great place {and the game viewing would be better when the water recedes}. The staff was impressive and we liked them all. Our guide was good but still not as good as Bens in MalaMala...

Thanks for all the support you gave us!

All best,

Shared Mobile Tented Safari to Moremi and the Khwai Concession Visit to Linyanti

Dear Mark,

We are back home and have another great Africa trip under our belt. As usual the guiding was excellent. Brian Gibson of Capture Africa was a gracious and extremely attentive host as well as a skilled and educational guide. He runs a taut, first rate outfit. I give him my highest recommendation. Isaac at Linyanti Bush Camp was also excellent. The only real difference between them was that Brian was more similar to us culturally and therefore we could share stories and jokes much more, but that plus for Brian (and he was very good at it) should not detract from Isaac.

The camping and safari in Khwai was terrific. Moremi was very good, but suffered one day from a weather front which was still a fun if not fantastic day. The park rules of no off-roading and no walking were a little frustrating. This was our only such park experience and while Brian did a great job and the animals were good (cheetah were great), we prefer concession areas.

Linyanti may have been too short to provide an accurate review. The lodge was excellent, Isaac truly aimed to please, and we really enjoyed our walks. But other than elephants up close and personal (which was great), the animals were less impressive. Again this may have been influenced by time.

Overall it was a wonderful experience and flawlessly put together by your team. Congratulations and a huge thank you.

We will be looking forward to our next trip – hopefully in the next two years.

“Great Wilderness” Safari to Okavango Delta/Khwai/Linyanti/Chobe/Livingstone - Victoria Falls

Dear Elena,

Lorraine and I wanted to send you our thanks for a great vacation to Africa. It truly was a vacation of a lifetime. Your staff made for seamless travel where everything was well planned out. Our guide, Victor, along with Ollie, another guide who was learning new areas, worked very hard spotting animals and following their tracks.

On our adventure, we saw 4 of the big 5, including elephants, leopards, buffalo and lions. We only missed seeing rhinos, which were not expected anyway. On 6 of the 9 days on safari, we saw either lions or leopards. This was quite an experience. We also saw hippos, giraffe, zebra, ostrich, kudu, and impala, as well as other animals. Not to be forgotten were the eagles, including the fishing eagle, hawks, owls and rollers.

Although there were many highlights on the trip, the main ones in our opinion include seeing a male lion roar while on our morning drive during our stay at Jacana Camp, seeing a female lion and cubs in Khwai, and watching a leopard in Linyanti.

On our second day, we spotted the male lion walking alongside the vehicle path. The lion knew we were there, but continued walking and looking for his mate and their cubs. We followed the lion for a small distance and eventually the lion stopped and roared for a couple seconds. Our guide said this was unusual to see and hear.

While in Khwai, we spotted a female lion with cubs. Initially, the mother was lying in an area about 15 feet from our vehicle. Her cubs then joined her. A few minutes later, the mother lion went back into the forest and left her 2 cubs where she was initially. She did this knowing we were watching.

In Linyanti, a leopard was sitting on a termite mound as we were driving by. There were no tracks on the path our vehicle was following and for that reason; the spotting of the leopard by Victor was a surprise. All of a sudden we stopped and wondered why. Victor told us he spotted a leopard on a termite mound and pointed him out to us. We eventually moved closer to about 35 feet away and watched him for an hour. Although a couple other vehicles arrived, the leopard was unfazed and continued to sit on the mound while grooming and napping. Eventually, the leopard got up and yawned and then walked slowly away.

However, what made the trip most notable were 2 different events.

The first occurred in Linyanti. Our guide warned us that an elephant was walking through the camp area and to be careful and watchful. Around dinner time, we left our camp and walked to the main area while watching out for the elephant but did not see him. However, once we got into the main area, we looked back and voila, there was a large elephant standing on a path, just behind the vehicle we used for the day. He was around 15 feet from us and was looking at us while eating. He then smelled for us with his trunk. The elephant eventually walked away and went toward the water...

The second event was the sounds of the night which occurred throughout the trip. Hearing hip pos grunt at night as you try to sleep as well hearing the elephants breaking branches as they ate made you truly feel you were in Africa. We never felt in danger, even though the sounds were very close and seemed like they were just outside the tent. On the last night, the hyenas joined in and made their own night howls.

Our last day on safari, we visited Chobe. This area should not be missed if you are in the area. This is because animals are plentiful as you view them from a boat ride. We finished our trip in Victoria Falls, Zimbabwe. The falls were spectacular. We also enjoyed the helicopter flight over the falls and our one hour elephant safari ride.

Thank You again for setting up our trip of a lifetime,
Bob and Lorraine Stauber, May 2011

Group safari of the Kruger and The Kingdoms
Flying safari to Kalahari Desert – Makgadikgadi Pans
Visit to Johannesburg, Durban and Cape Town

Hi Ian!

I travelled with Africa Adventure for the 4th time from Apr 1/11 -Apr30/11

Again, my most precious friends-- you have provided not only an itinerary that totally suited what I wanted, but the most needed back-up from Thompson Tours through to Wilderness safaris.

Your passionate support of conservation was evident in the booking at Jack's camp in Botswana, a morning with the Bushmen. What an experience. Cobra and his 4 other click speaking (not Dhosa but another dialect of click language) showed me how to suck the sand from a scorpion's eyes and all else everyone should know.. survival 101 in the bush!!

They will not kill plant or animal unless they are hunting for food, which sustains their lives, and they use all parts. I was so impressed on their consideration of every living plant & animal.

I landed in Maun (the bush hub) to change aircraft, and had a 20min wait . A rep. from Wilderness Safaris found me and presented me with a huge hard cover, out of this world to die for book, on life & animals in Africa as a thanks for booking in with them so many times! Chip is the Wilderness meet & greet in Maun, and with him you lay all your excitement about your safari. He is a wonderful enthusiastic person.

Africa Adventure has got all trips down pat--you can't go wrong and if Ian is involved--well you lucked out twice!!

Kudos my friends---what insight to a Canadian who hasn't even met you. Love you Ian!

EGYPT-JORDAN

Sharm El Sheikh/Abu Simbel/Nile Cruise – Aswan to Luxor/Cairo

Szilvia and Team,

I just wanted to write you all to provide a more detailed review of our recent tour of Egypt. Overall, we all had a really fantastic time on this vacation and all of the logistics and arrangements that were coordinated by Africa Adventure Company worked out very well...we had no issues whatsoever in terms of flight delays or any other issues with any of the transportation or hotel accommodation arrangements. From the beginning of the planning process with Szilvia all the way to the execution of the vacation, we were very pleased with the services provided. The communication process was great and I appreciate the discussions with Mark regarding the security situation in Egypt as the events of their revolution unfolded. Mark's advice was correct...the timing really was great from a tourist perspective in that the crowds were greatly diminished.

Anyway, below is a detailed review of the trip:

1. Sharm el Sheikh - Accommodations were the Ritz Carlton. Very nice hotel and the location was great. The staff was very courteous and the restaurant food was great. I was amazed by the beautiful sea life you could see and swim with right off the beach/jetty of the hotel. Some of the sea life we saw here, we didn't even encounter during our snorkeling trip to Ras Mohammed. While I found the hotel to be very nice, my own personal opinion is that this hotel will be eclipsed in the near future, if not already, by newer more updated style hotels. This comment is not a negative comment about the Ritz or any disappointment at all, but my opinion that the popularity of Sharm will continue to bring newer resorts that are trying to outdo each other similar to what has happened in Playa del Carmen on the Mexican Riviera over the past 20 years. Our second day in Sharm, we took an excursion organized by the Travco representative to snorkel in Ras Mohammed national park in the Red Sea. The price was very reasonable per person, and the snorkeling was absolutely unbelievable!
2. Aswan - Accommodations were the Movenpick on Elephantine Island. The Movenpick was a great hotel and is situated in a beautiful location on Elephantine Island in the middle of the Nile. As noted previously, we elected to move from our suites to the main building due to problems with the air conditioning units in the suites. The suites were very nice, two-story units in a separate building. We ran the air conditioning for about 5 hours and it did not cool the units down much at all. My guess is the heat was about 110 degrees F outside these days and the hotel itself was fairly vacant...maybe 25 -30% occupancy when we were there so the units may not have been used in weeks/months. The management was very kind and helpful and re-located us to the main building with some great views. The staff was very courteous, the pool was outstanding, the restaurant was excellent, and the local shops located at the base of the hotel were very nice with some good vendors. The water taxis were easy to use and we never had to wait long to get off the island.
3. Aswan, Day 2. We met Joe, our Egyptologist this day and toured some of the sites around Aswan. Joe was very courteous and nice and we could tell the moment we met him that he was going to be a fantastic guide for us. I'll write more on him later.
4. Abu Simbel. This excursion was basically a half day trip by air to Abu Simbel. We had roughly 1.5 to 2 hours time to see this temple due to the flight arrangements. We weren't sure how this excursion would turn out given the time constraints but everyone on our flights were doing the same thing. The timing was great...all flights were on time. 1.5 hours was plenty to see Abu Simbel entirely which was one of my favorite temples of the entire trip.

Joe did not accompany us on this excursion (which we already knew) and we had a local guide...not the same quality of course but the local guide was ok. Joe would have been better as the guide, but the excursion was well worth it. Our original itinerary had us staying one night in Abu Simbel but to be honest, I am glad it changed because the town around Abu Simbel did not seem very exciting and staying two nights at the Movenpick in Aswan turned out very well. Following the excursion, we board the M/S Minverva for our 3 day Nile cruise.

5. The Nile Cruise. The M/S Minverva was a great cruise ship. The rooms were very nice and surprisingly the bathroom was much larger than I expected which was a plus. The staff was extremely courteous and always greeted us with a smile. The food on board was excellent. The first day on board the ship we just stayed in Aswan. I don't think we departed until about 4am. Day 2, we stopped at Kom Ombo and then on to Edfu. Both of these temples were excellent stops. The final day of the cruise we stopped at Luxor. Luxor easily had the most sites to visit and we had a very busy day on our final day on this cruise. In Luxor, we had the Valley of the Kings and Queens, Temple of Hatchepsut, Karnak, and the temple of Luxor to visit. Every single one of these sites was absolutely breathtaking. If time had permitted, I would have spent another day or at least a half day in Luxor to split up the sightseeing, but it worked out for us.

6. Cairo. Accommodations were the Mena House Oberoi. The Mena House was easily the most luxurious hotel we had on our vacation. The rooms were beautiful and the staff was clearly trained for 5-star service....extremely friendly staff and it seemed like we had two people taking care of us at any particular moment. The location and views of the pyramids are amazing. Our first day in Cairo we toured the two Mosques, the Citadel, and visited the market. All were outstanding excursions.

7. Cairo, final day. Our final day was the grand finale so to speak in which we toured Memphis, Sakkara, and of course the Great Pyramids and the Sphinx at Giza. All of these sites were amazing and did not disappoint us one bit. On our final day, we were escorted by a private security officer ...I can tell you that we never felt unsafe at any time on our entire trip...the people of Egypt were very friendly to us.

8. Joe, our Egyptologist. I can't say enough great things about our guide, Joe. Joe was extremely friendly, very knowledgeable, and was always very patient with us. We could tell he was extremely well educated and knew his history about Egypt. Not once did he ever not have answers about anything we had questions about which is a testament to his 7+ years of education in Egyptology. In addition, he was very patient with us and was able to strike a very good balance of providing education and explanations about the various sites we visited but also allowing us enough freedom to explore the sites on our own for some time and take photos. Joe was always on time, gave us a daily itinerary and kept a very good pace and schedule for us. I would highly recommend his services in the future to anyone taking a trip to Egypt!

9. The Ground Operator representatives. Every one of these employees were very friendly, always on time, and were extremely helpful. We had a great experience with all of them which ranged from the airport greeters, the drivers, and the assistants that would accompany us in the vans and help us at the airports and hotels. Very good service.

10. General comments - What a wonderful trip and I praise everyone involved who worked together to make our vacation come together and execute so smoothly. I am extremely happy we did not have to postpone, or worse, cancel this trip due to the situation in Egypt. It truly may have been a once in a lifetime opportunity to experience that beautiful country with so few tourists. We will definitely look to use Africa Adventure Company again in the coming years for trips in Africa...can't wait for the next one!

Best regards,
Chris Barth, May 2011
