With regards to the Coronavirus pandemic, we are watching and monitoring the situation as it evolves. As it is a complex scenario which can change by the day, we are being sympathetic to the effect the situation is having on people's desire to travel; we do not want people undertaking what should be a trip of a lifetime, under duress. We would like to give our clients the confidence to book knowing that if you do, the Governors' Camp Collection will give you the flexibility to change your travel dates or receive a refund, if circumstances change.
