PRETORIA CITY TOUR

The City of Tshwane, formerly known as Pretoria, lies only 58 km (36 miles) north of Johannesburg and provides a complete contrast to the City of Gold. South Africa's administrative capital was founded in 1855 and named after the Voortrekker leader, Andries Pretorius. Often referred to as the "Jacaranda City", this nickname refers to the thousands of trees lining the streets, their purple blossoms heralding the approach of summer each October.

Your tour begins with a visit to the Voortrekker Monument, a striking memorial built to honor the early pioneers. You then continue to the central part of the city which has retained the name of Pretoria, visiting Kruger House Museum and Church Square, where the statue of Paul Kruger looks down on the passers-by. Melrose House is a classic example of a Victorian suburban townhouse and a visit can also be included, subject to time permitting (closed on Mondays!).

You will then continue to the imposing Union Building, which houses the offices of the State President, Deputy President and Minister of Foreign Affairs. Your stop here provides an impressive view over the city and completes the tour, before returning to your hotel.

Duration: 4 hours

Rate p.p.: 2 pax $275.00 / 4 pax $150.00

The name Johannesburg is synonymous with South Africa's gold-mining industry; this is the city that was founded way back in 1886 as a miner's village on the Witwatersrand gold-fields. Today, the Gold Reef City theme park and museum - built around the original No.14 shaft of Crown Mines - recreates the city of Johannesburg as it was during the early days of the gold rush. On arrival you will meet your private guide who will conduct your tour through the complex. The guided tour includes an underground visit 220 meters below the surface, a gold pour and tribal dancing, providing the visitor with an in-depth look at the gold mining industry in South Africa.

You will experience a traditional welcome upon arrival, guided cultural walkabout through two of the four homesteads, traditional song and dance and traditional lunch or dinner.

CULLINAN DIAMOND MINE SURFACE TOUR

When diamonds were first discovered in about 1888 in the river systems east of where Cullinan is today, a fascinating history began which led to the discovery of Premier Mine (now Cullinan Diamond Mine). The mine was discovered on a farm called Elandsfontein, owned by Willem Prinsloo. Thomas Cullinan bought the farm and soon after, in 1902, the Premier Diamond Mining Company was registered. Prospecting began without delay and mining began the following year. In 1905, one of the greatest events in diamond history took place when an enormous diamond, weighing 3106 carats, was found. It was named after Thomas Cullinan and still remains the largest diamond ever found.

After the horror of World War 2 came to an end in 1945, Premier was reopened but took 10 months to pump out around four billion liters of water that had accumulated in the mine's 189m-deep pit over its 14 dormant years. At this time Premier began its foray into underground mining and a prosperous new period had begun.

In 1977 the Premier (Transvaal) Diamond Company was amalgamated into De Beers Consolidated. In July 2008, the mine was bought by Petra Diamonds and is still fully operational today. Cullinan is the source of some of the world's largest gemstones such as the Cullinan, Premier Rose, Niarchos, the Centenary and the Golden Jubilee.

Departure: Daily, at 8:30am or 12:30pm Mon-Sat (except Christmas, New Year's, and Good Friday)

CRADLE OF HUMANKIND

Please note that the Sterkfontein Caves are currently closed to the Public (no scheduled opening date has been given).

The Sterkfontein Caves were discovered in 1896 by an Italian gold prospector and are now regarded as one of the world's most important archeological sites. The caves lie in the Sterkfontein valley which, together with the nearby sites of Swartkrans, Drimolen and Kromdraai, make up the "Cradle of Humankind" World Heritage Site. Dr Robert Broom of the Transvaal Museum (Museum of Natural History) began excavations at the cave in 1936 and in 1947 discovered a well-preserved complete skull of a species of early man known as Plesianthropus Transvaalensis. This later became known as the famous "Mrs Ples".

Depart your hotel this morning for the approximately 60-90 minute drive to the Sterkfontein Valley. Your visit starts with a group guided tour of Sterkfontein and the exhibition center which explores fossilization and has lifelike models of hominids, a sabre tooth and a reconstruction of a mined cave versus a pristine cave. Continue underground into a cave through a series of walkways to view the excavation site of Mrs. Ples.

Continue by vehicle about 10km to the visitor facility of Maropeng. This portion of your visit is self-guided. The highlight is the Tumulus building, which is designed to look like an ancient burial mound, and tells the story of the Cradle of Humankind and brings to life the history of humankind in entertaining, educative and interactive ways.

The attraction depicts the exciting 4-billion-year journey, through the elemental forces - water, air, fire and earth - dipping through waterfalls and real icebergs, into the eye of a storm, past erupting volcanoes and through the depths of the earth and emerging at the beginning of the world. From here, the journey continues through an experience highlighting the history of our world and humankind as a species, brought to life via audiovisual techniques, sound effects, theme-park technology and theatrical displays. There are also real fossils on display at the visitor center. Bathrooms and a restaurant are on site.

Your visit to the Cradle of Humankind includes a group guided tour of Sterkfontein. Maropeng is a self-guided tour.

Please note: Visitors to Sterkfontein Caves should wear comfortable shoes and leave handbags and other luggage behind. There are a number of tight spots and pathways to negotiate in the caves and it is not advisable to do the tour if you are claustrophobic. It is also not advisable for visitors who suffer from acute asthma or chest problems to do the tour, as the entry and exit requires climbing up and down stairways.

BRENTHURST GARDENS

The Brenthurst Gardens are located in Parktown, Johannesburg. The 48-acre private park is attached to Brenthurst Estate which has been owned by the Oppenheimer family since 1904. The eco-friendly gardens are still the responsibility of the Oppenheimer family and are tended to by 45 gardeners who take care of the vast ground of oak trees, indigenous grass and plant areas. The garden is 70 percent indigenous with plants and trees from Australia, South America, New Zealand and Japan that all add to the color and splendor of the garden. The gardens are 100% organic: the roses are kept free of bugs with a fusion of garlic, milk and copper, and the vegetables are sprayed with a mixture of garlic or vegetable oil. The history of the park dates back to 1890 when Edouard Lippert planted the first trees to meet the demand for pits props from the mines as well as building materials for the then booming town (Johannesburg) that had sprung up. The gardens are rated amongst the best gardens in South Africa, and the beautiful holistic grounds have been described as Johannesburg's most splendid garden. The children's garden has two 70-year-old statues of children. One of the gardens has a bronze sculpture called Venus Vistorieuse, which is one of the only few sculptures by Pierre-Auguste Renoir. The bottom of Brenthurst Gardens is protected by two large sculptures named 'Man and Woman'. These sculptures are the works of South African Louis Le Sueur and were sculpted in 1969; the male figure is over six meters tall and impeccably positioned, surrounded by lawns and soaring trees.

We recommend booking the 4-hour "Go your Way" to visit the gardens. This visit to the gardens must be pre-booked and the guided tour 1 to 2 hours in duration.
